Hearing officer's recommendation revealed

Hill resigns school post, promises July 13 expose

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
The Hancock County School District state and federal programs coordinator pledges on July 13 to reveal his part in a January Hancock Grand Jury investigation of the district.
Harlin Hill, the coordinator who is also a candidate for Harrison County superintendent of education, resigned from his Hancock position at the beginning of a heated District Board of Trustees meeting Tuesday night.
Terrell Randolph, Hancock superintendent of education who apparently plans to seek re-election, Wednesday said Hill's resignation is effective June 30.
Hill explained Wednesday that July 13 will mark six months from the time he testified before the Grand Jury.

Hill said in January he was instructed by Albert Necaise, district attorney, not to discuss the testimony for at least six months.
July 13 is also the date set for the trials of Louie and Woodrow Ladner, two former board members indicted by the Grand Jury.
The board at a Tuesday night meeting as directed by Walter Phillips, in the same law firm as Joseph Gex who is the board's regular legal counsel, decided not to open and publicly reveal a recommendation by a hearing officer hired by the board to decide if Hill should be re-employed.
Board Member Johnny Banks cast the only opposing vote.
Phillips explained based on recent court rulings that Hill's resignation rendered the hearing officer's decision 'moot.'

However, Randolph objected to the board's decision and charged it was 'out of order' because Hill's resignation was not included in the meeting agenda which only included opening of the recommendation.
Randolph, Banks and school patron Lynnette Necaise all demanded the recommendation by Frank P. Wittmann III, a Pass Christian attorney, be publicly revealed because they felt the board was attempting to 'cover-up' wrongdoing after expending some $1,500 in 'taxpayer dollars' for the hearing.
Billie Fay Lyons, a board member, said the officials were not involved in a cover-up.

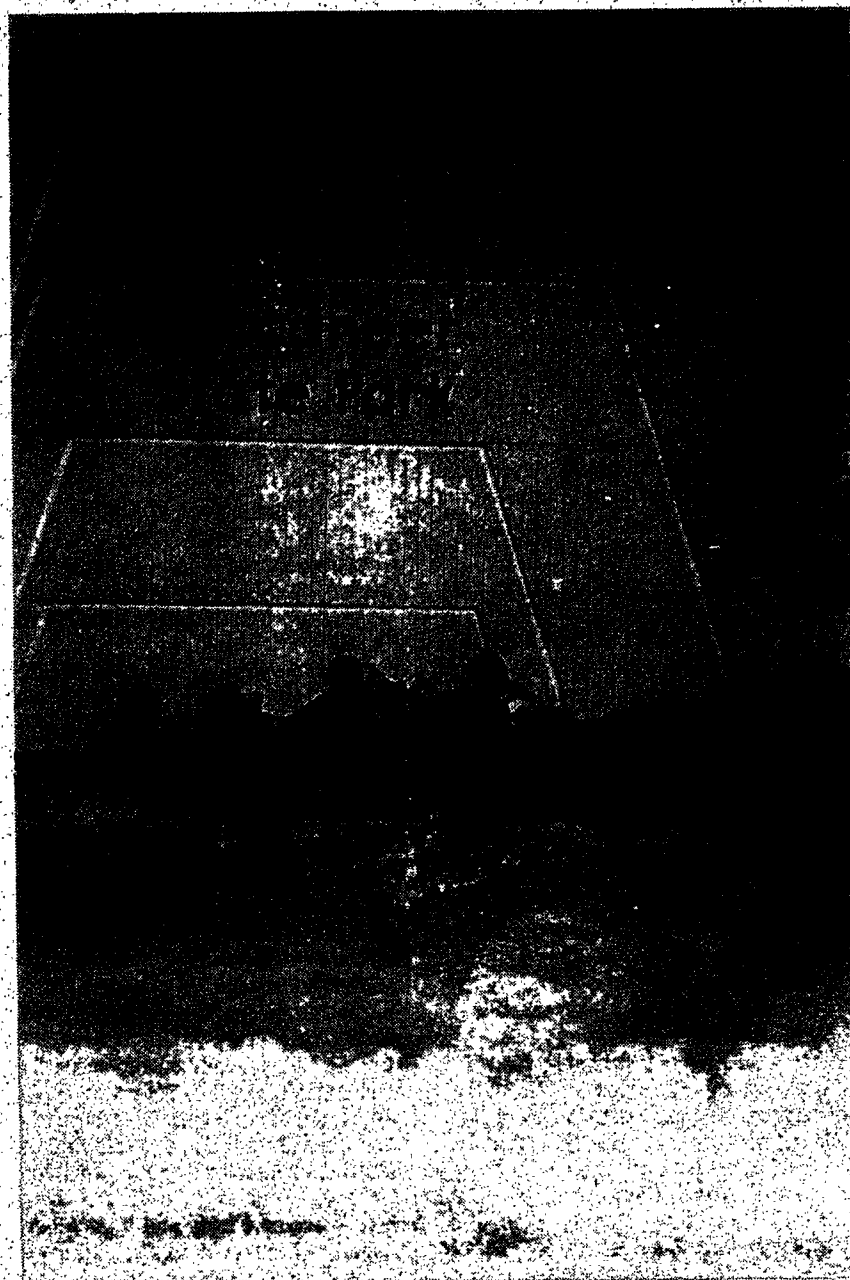

Banks' motion to open the written recommendation died for lack of a second.
But Randolph persisted and stated, "We should make the public aware of the fraudulent activity that has taken place."
He also revealed Wittmann recommends Hill not be re-employed.
Randolph agreed Wednesday to provide The Sea Coast Echo a copy of Wittmann's decision he received.
The superintendent explained that Gex earlier that day determined since he, the board, Randolph and his attorney, Jim Galloway of Gulfport, all received copies of the recommendation, it is a 'public document.'
Wittmann states in his written findings that Hill 'could be dismissed without cause;' that he 'acted fraudulently and with detriment to the school district in endorsing a check issued to him by the school district and in signing a voucher accounting for the monies which were disbursed;' and that he 'used school cafeteria facilities without authorization.'

Wittmann notes in July, 1981 Hill and James Pair, also an assistant superintendent, were each granted a $500 expense check by the board to attend a Southern Regional School Board Conference in Nashville, Tenn.
Wittmann states Hill received instructions from Billy Sills, the previous superintendent removed from office for

Investigators eye HGH operating room mishaps

By ELLIS CUEVAS
An investigation is continuing into the cause of death to one patient and the serious injury of another on Friday at the Hancock General Hospital, according to Ronald Peterson, Hancock County sheriff.
Peterson said, "Elizabeth Henderson Latour, 74, died at the hospital on Friday and Margaret Amann, 32, was injured. She was moved to Gulfport Memorial Hospital in Gulfport and is reported to be in a serious condition."
"We want to emphasize, the sheriff's department was called to investigate the incidents at 5:30 a.m. Saturday by Phil Langston, HGH administrator; Doctors John Rutherford, a pathologist; Joseph Nodurft, an anesthesiologist; and Joseph R. Lee, a surgeon," Peterson added.

Joe Price, Mississippi Highway Patrol's chief of criminal investigation for Southern Mississippi, is also involved in the investigation.
A prepared statement released to the press from Hancock General by Langston said, "The exact cause of death and injury are under investigation but appear possibly to be related to anesthesia equipment."
"The physicians involved and personnel of Hancock General Hospital had no further knowledge of any anesthesia equipment malfunctioning, and a subsequent examination of that equipment reveals that the equipment is functioning in a safe operating condition," the release further stated.
Peterson added, "The hospital initiated the investigation after they felt something happened to those two people in the operating room that normally doesn't occur. They wanted, and we want, to find out if there is any criminal or malicious activity involved."

The investigation will continue through this week, according to Peterson, as he said, "The investigation centers around a certain piece of equipment in the operating room normally used by an anesthesiologist. We are also questioning all persons having access to the operating room."
The specific piece of equipment was not named by the sheriff.
"Our concern is about a new piece of equipment bought the same week of these two occurrences. They were not the first patients on which the equipment was used," Peterson said.
Price stated, "The hospital administration and medical staff want to get to the bottom of the incident regardless. There have been no incidents of anyone trying to hide anything, as everyone has been very cooperative in this investigation."
The Highway Patrol criminal investigator continued, "Both the hospital administration and medical staff are in the business of helping people, not hurting them."
Other officers involved in the investigation are Alvin Ladner, Hancock County investigator; David Brooks, State Highway Patrol investigator; and Douglas Williams, Bay St. Louis police chief.

Hancock jobless rate highest ever recorded

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Hancock County's unemployment rate reached 13.4 percent in April, the highest level ever recorded based on current Mississippi State Employment Service figures.
The only time the jobless rate neared that level was with 12.9 percent in February and 12.8 percent in Nov., 1977, employment service reports indicate.
April's jobless rate reflected 1,300 unemployed Hancock Countians out of a 9,730 civilian labor force, the figures show.
Hancock's unemployment exceeded state and national rates which are 11.4 and 10 percent, respectively, for the same period.
Mississippi's unemployment rate represents two-tenths of a percentage point decrease compared to March's 11.6 percent jobless rate, says O. H. Simons, Mississippi Employment Security Commission executive director.

Last year's April unemployment rate was 10.6 percent, he adds.
Commission figures show 119,500 unemployed and 933,000 employed out of a statewide civilian labor force of 1,052,500.
Initial unemployment insurance claims in Mississippi totaled 20,344 in April, Simmons says.
"Some 56 of the state's 82 counties list unemployment rates of 10 percent or higher in April. Of that number, two counties have jobless rates in excess of 10 percent," he reports.
Counties with the highest rates are Greene with 21.4, George with 20.7, and Sharkey with 19.3.
Issaquena, Rankin, and Oktibbeha Counties report the lowest jobless rates with 3.4, 6.4, and 6.8, respectively.
Some 47 counties show decreases in their rates from March to April, while 31 report increases. The unemployment rates in four counties are unchanged.

Bennett says, 'work not paper'

Mayor vetos council

By JUNE M. HEYDT
Mayor Larry Bennett has vetoed a motion passed by the Bay St. Louis Council authorizing $44,000 for engineer James Chinleche to draw up plans and specifications for drainage work in the Spanish Acres and Cedar Point areas of Bay St. Louis.
The veto was delivered to Eddie Favre, city clerk, on Tuesday afternoon.
Bennett said, "I just can't see paying this much money to have plans drawn up if we don't have the money to proceed with them."
"An engineer usually receives 10 percent of the total cost of construction which means that to go ahead with these plans the project would cost around $500,000. We don't have the money. These plans will just be put on a shelf along with the many other studies and reports paid for but never used."

"In 1980 a study was done that said it would cost in excess of $365,000 to drain the Spanish Acres area. The study cost $3,650, it is still sitting on the shelf," Bennett said.
"I feel this money could be put to better use by actual construction rather than adding to the untold dollars already spent on plans and studies," Bennett said.
"We don't need an engineer to tell us when we have a blockage in a pipe and to remove or repair it. And that's what I would like to use some of this money for, for repairing the damaged systems."

"There are culverts that are broken, or too small that should be replaced," Bennett added. "This money could be used to do that," he continued.
"Sam Perniciaro, James Travira and Roger Dale Ladner, members of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors have agreed to assist us in this work by providing machinery and labor in their areas."

Woman trapped at pier

By JUNE M. HEYDT
Policemen, mobile medics and firemen were on hand at the rescue of Ann Peters who was caught under a rock beneath the pier at Washington Street and South Beach Boulevard Saturday evening.
Officer Robert Butler and patrolman Larry Wilson were on a patrol when they saw a man, Charles Murray, standing on the pier and calling for someone in the water," said Butler.
"We thought it could be a possible drowning and started an immediate search of the area," said Butler.
"After about 30 to 40 minutes Wilson found Peters' watch on a rock about 10 feet from the water's edge. Shortly after that Wilson spotted a piece of the woman's slacks under a large rock," said Butler.

"At first we tried to pull her out but she was wedged in and she couldn't talk," Butler said.
After trying to pry and cut the rocks away a witness named Tom Hill called the rock lifter to the pier.
Peters was taken to Hancock General Hospital where she was treated for a dislocated hip and then transferred to Gulfport Memorial Hospital, said a Hancock Hospital spokesperson.

Senior Citizen Happenings

By EVE McDONALD

NOT FORGOTTEN

This is Senior Citizen Month — May. Times have really changed. We don't have as many "guilty feeling" people around anymore. Just read the newspaper!

St. Clare's had a special Grandparents Day program. Carl Baldenhofer's art group (mostly seniors) will have a special day Saturday at the library.

RSVP is having its 10th birthday party and invites seniors to celebrate with them Friday for lunch and swimming at the Wave Pool. The food will be at Pavilion No. 1, our usual.

Many of our grocery stores and drug stores have recognized the needs and limited incomes of most of our seniors and provide discounts, gifts, special rates, parking, etc. Thanks!

Politicians are also soliciting the senior vote. They realize that seniors vote consistently and in large numbers. We are a force to be reckoned with, though not a threat to good government.

SATURDAY MUSIC

"Soundstage" presents two back-to-back concerts on Mississippi ETV beginning at 7 p.m. on Saturday, May 28.

HOLIDAY

We will be closed Monday, May 30 for Memorial Day. Hope all of you will have a good, safe weekend.

CLASS OPENINGS

We will have a few openings in some of our classes such as art (drawing), sewing, and arts and crafts. Come by and see what we are doing. Our woodworking class is doing some beautiful rocking horses, and made a super toy chest.

Memorial Day period begins Friday; ends midnight Monday

Highway Patrol promises stepped-up holiday enforcement

The chief of the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol has issued a warning about the upcoming three-day Memorial Day observance.

"Our troopers will be out in full force to assist motorists and to enforce traffic laws during the 78-hour period," Colonel Donald Butler said.

"Drivers breaking laws on the 10,000 miles of highway under the patrol's jurisdiction should expect to be ticketed."

The holiday observance begins at 6 p.m. on Friday and ends at midnight on Monday.

He said patrol officials are concerned about the weekend because, "A review of the fatal accidents over the Memorial Day observance last year shows most of the 14 people who died in traffic accidents were victims of the law breakers or were breaking the law themselves."

"Since this is the first major holiday of the summer, seasonal traffic is expected to be heavy. Attention should be paid to pedestrians, bicyclists and motorcycle drivers. Three of the 14 deaths last year were pedestrians, and two were motorcycle," Butler said.

Last year's Memorial Day weekend was the second worst fatality-producing holiday weekend of the year. The Fourth of July observance produced the most traffic deaths when 16 people were killed.

Ninety-six people have lost their lives in traffic accidents in Mississippi over Memorial Day observances in the last 10 years.

Dredging work ends

Corps sounding deep hole area

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
A U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' boat crew is now conducting soundings offshore from Waveland in the deep hole area to determine if recently completed dredging operations have filled the deadly underwater cavity.

Winnie Smith, an information officer at the Corps' Mobile District office, Tuesday confirmed the sounding operation underway will determine if the 400 by 800-foot oblong underwater hole located about 1,400 feet offshore has been filled with the reshaped waterbottom gradually deepening in a seaward direction.

Hydraulic and mechanical dredging equipment owned and operated by MCM Dredging Service, Inc. of Omaha, Neb. has been utilized during the last several weeks to fill the hole with surrounding sand and form a gradual sloping waterbottom.

Some 25 drownings have occurred in the last few years in the deep hole, created in a 1966 Corps project in which a sand berm was formed to protect most of Hancock County's aging seawall.

A quicksand mud bottom was added later in a Bayou Cadet maintenance dredging project in which spoils were utilized in an attempt to fill the depression.

The hole area is located offshore from Buccaneer State Park and Gulfside Methodist Assembly Center.

Smith said the soundings should take about one week to complete and the dredges will not be officially released from the $469,458 project until the Corps inspection confirms the waterbottom meets specifications.

Survivors of six deep hole victims have received some $450,000 in settlements from the federal government, two cases have been appealed and an additional suit demanding $250,000 has been filed.

HGH census averages 42 in April

In a report given to the trustees of Hancock General Hospital by Mike Dossett, comptroller, the April census was 42 patients per day compared to 34 for the same period in 1982.

The year-to-date was given as 37 patients per day with 1982's listed as 35.

Dossett said, "Profit for April was $26,000, with a year-to-date profit of $178,000."

The fiscal year of HGH begins on Oct. 1.

A lengthy discussion was held on the subject of sick leave for employees of the hospital.

Phil Langston, administrator stated, "We are now in the process of preparing next year's budget and would like the trustees feelings on the sick leave policy currently being followed."

Employees are entitled to 12 days a year of sick leave and can carry over seven days per year and if the other five are not used a cash bonus is given the employee at Christmas, Langston reported.

The seven days from each year can build in case an employee has a lengthy illness in the coming years.

The trustees indicated there should not be any change in the sick leave policy since it was just changed last year.

Trustees also gave approval of Medical Staff Credentials recommendations for allied health to Annette Walker, R.N., Carol Reiben, R.N., Michelle M. Varnell, L.P.N., and Beverly H. Avery, L.P.N.

allegedly receiving a kickback in a Gulfview Elementary School construction project, to endorse the check and give the money to Woodrow Ladner to attend the conference.

Pair was given the same instructions through a third (unnamed) party and gave his money to Louie Ladner, the hearing officer reports.

After the trip, Brenda Ladner, former district bookkeeper who Randolph recently recommended not be re-employed, presented Pair and Hill a voucher and asked them to execute it as though they had attended the meeting, Wittman lists.

Pair refused to take the action, but Hill prepared another one (voucher) in his own handwriting, signed and returned it to Brenda Ladner for replacement of the other voucher.

"It is the preparation and signing of the fraudulent travel voucher, which forms the basis for my recommendation. I am of the opinion that there can be no justification for his actions," Wittman states.

The hearing officer also reports Hill testified he was not recommended for re-hiring because Henry Arledge, the present Harrison superintendent, is a friend of Randolph.

But Randolph denied Hill's statement and no proof was offered in support of the accusation, Wittman states.

Wittman also concludes the unauthorized cafeteria use by Hill is not of 'great importance' in the determination.

"In my opinion, this merely shows the lax attitude of school administrators and the academic community towards the use of public facilities which surfaces from time to time, not only in this community, but in other areas as well," he states.

Just after the Tuesday night meeting, Marie Hill, the coordinator's wife, screamed at Randolph, "You better make sure it (the recommendation) doesn't go public. This man (her husband) hasn't done anything to anybody."

"I hope you're proud of yourself. He (Harlin Hill) carried the ball for you and you bought a beautiful home in Diamondhead!" she stated.

"Make sure this doesn't go on the record until we're ready," Marie Hill added.

Harlin Hill angrily said, "After July 13, all will come out in the open... This whole thing is based on political motivation."

Regarding Gex not attending the Tuesday or a Monday meeting, Banks earlier at the Tuesday meeting heatedly charged that the attorney did not appear because of 'pressure' resulting from the sensitive topic to be discussed.

Banks said Gex should be replaced as the board's legal counsel.

"We're paying four or five attorneys. Why doesn't he (Gex) grow up," he said.

Gex said Wednesday that he did not attend Tuesday because it was his 14th wedding anniversary and he took his wife out to dinner.

Gex reported Monday night he appeared just after the 15-minute meeting adjourned.

The board delayed its expected Monday decision in the Hill matter because Gex was not present.

In reference to that meeting, the attorney said, "I attended the night before at 7:15 (the meeting began at 7 p.m.). I showed up when everybody was walking out."

Gex was seen talking to Randolph, some board members and patrons in front of the Dan M. Russell Sr. Memorial Youth Court Center, where the board offices are located, just after the Monday meeting.

"All Mr. Banks has got to do is make a motion, but he never says anything when I'm around," Gex stated.

The attorney added, "If the board didn't meet every week they would not need an attorney so much."

STORY UNFOLDING

IN BUREAUCRACY

In the federal bureaucracy, a story is unfolding.

It is the story of potential savings amounting to $18 billion, less regulation by fewer regulators and less paperwork heaped onto the shoulders of the American people.

While the final chapter of the story has yet to be written, there are signs that the task of bringing the federal bureaucracy into some semblance of control has a chance to succeed.

One of the main pillars of President Reagan's program for economic recovery is the effort to more closely control the federal regulators. He announced an early attack on waste, fraud and abuse and also used a task force on regulatory relief to pinpoint problem areas.

The need for such action was clear and it reversed a long trend of increasing regulation by federal agencies. Consider the following:

• Since 1953, 37 regulatory agencies have been created and only two abolished.

ed. Twenty new regulatory agencies were created in the 1970s alone;

• Between 1970 and 1979, regulatory budgets increased from $866 million to more than $5.5 billion, an increase of 537 percent;

• Regulatory budgets for "social regulation" increased by 760 percent in the decade of the 1970s;

• In 1970, there were 27,000 full-time federal regulators. By 1980, the number was 90,500, an increase of 13 percent.

It was in that climate that the proponents of less regulation went to work in 1981. Already they have saved the American people more than $2 billion by cracking down on waste, fraud and abuse.

In addition, the Office of Management and Budget has reported that the regulatory relief measures taken by the White House have the potential for one-time savings of between $15 billion and $18 billion in costs to the economy, and annual savings of $6 billion.

The number of full-time federal regulators is expected to drop by 15 percent by the end of this year and there should be accompanying savings in the budgets of various agencies.

In the area of total federal employment, there were 52,909 fewer federal civilian employees in 1982 than in 1981. Still, the federal work force is listed at more than 2.8 million.

This renewed interest in cutting down the size of the federal bureaucracy and attacking waste, fraud and abuse is a good sign that we are serious about controlling the cost of government. Because the government is so large, we must constantly be on the watch for ways to reduce spending.

And, also because the government is so large, meaningful reductions in spending take time to become effective. I, for one, believe the movement is in the right direction.

Welfare director appeals for help

May 19, 1983
Editor
The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir,

Your local Welfare Department needs your help. As you may know, we have the care and responsibility of 42 foster children and the families who are generous enough to care for them.

There are never enough funds to provide what you would want for your children, but we try to provide certain special events such as our annual foster family picnic, and skating parties. We also try to assist those foster children interested in curriculum sports and band participation. These efforts are especially appreciated by those children whose opportunities have always been limited by poverty.

To support these events, we draw from our Social Services Fund which is comprised of some local tax money and contributions from the community.

These funds are also used to pay for doctors' visits and medical prescriptions for children whose parents cannot afford the expense and some emergency food and clothing for families with children. As you can imagine, it is difficult to help all those in need with our limited resources.

Currently we are only able to help the children—but we would like to set up an adult social services fund to assist adults with their medication, utilities and grocery expenses on an emergency basis.

Your tax deductible donations may be earmarked for the adult or children's social service fund. Please be assured that the recipients of these funds are carefully screened for need, and the expenditures are closely supervised to prevent misuse.

In the immediate future, we are planning the annual foster family picnic for July. For the picnic to be a success, we are counting on donations of food items, non-alcoholic beverages, paper goods (such as paper plates, napkins, etc.) and inexpensive prizes for the games and contests we have planned for the children.

If you or your organization are able to make a contribution of one of the above mentioned items, or an earmarked cash donation, please contact Susan Stevens at the Welfare Department at 467-4565 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. for further information.

Checks should be payable to the Hancock County Welfare Department and may be mailed to us at P.O. Box 151, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520.

On behalf of our foster families and assistance recipients, we thank you for your concern and interest.

Sincerely,
Wallace Bradley, Director
Hancock County
Welfare Department

The People's Business

Mississippi Economic Council

A REVIEW OF THE 1983 LEGISLATURE

Now that the 1983 regular session of the Mississippi Legislature is history, what kind of marks can we give the lawmakers?

The last 140 days represent a unique period for the Mississippi Legislature. Starting with the special session in December on education reforms, the four-and-one-half-month period produced major pieces of legislation. There were low points to be sure, but several actions stand out.

The education package of December hopefully will set in motion the wheels that will take Mississippi to a new day in education.

But these education reforms, which followed November approval of the lay state board of education amendment, will have to be followed by much hard work so as to assure the ideals of that special session are realized in improvements in our education system.

The Legislature's tough stance on drunk drivers stands as a major enactment of the 1983 session.

The untold costs of monetary damages and lost friends and relatives who fell victim to drunk drivers can't be recovered. But this law will help hold down these future costs.

Other significant legislative actions include help for Mississippi's small businesses and creation of inducements for high-tech businesses and special trade zones.

Funding of prison construction and utility regulatory reform also are major legislative actions.

Perhaps the issue occupying most attention during this year's session was state finances.

This subject was the most debated topic of the session and when adjournment came, questions over the state's fiscal situation still lingered, despite action to plug holes in the leaky budget.

There are many signs that an improved economy is on the way, and hopefully this improvement will clear up this uncertainty.

DEBATING ISSUES OF '83

The year is unfolding as an important one for the people of Mississippi. There is new hope for improvements in the economy as the nation pulls itself out of the recession.

On the home front, 1983 will be a pivotal year. This year state voters will elect public officials to fill jobs from the governor's office on down to county constables.

The Mississippi Economic Council has selected "Issues '83" as the theme for its Annual Membership Meeting, which is scheduled for April 7 in Jackson. Major issues facing the nation and the state will be discussed in detail by people who help shape them.

On the national front, Ted Koppel, veteran broadcast journalist, will talk to MEC members about the world as he sees it from his vantage point as anchor of a New York-based nightly television news program. He will be the luncheon speaker.

Closer to home, the growing list of candidates for Mississippi governor will appear to discuss major issues in this year's elections. A traditional event at the Council's meetings, the candidates will be interviewed by a panel of the state's leading journalists.

Education will also play a major part of this year's annual meeting. School consolidation, which is required in the newly passed Education Reform Act, will be debated by legislative and education officials.

By presenting discussions on these and other important issues, the Council believes that Mississippians will be better informed about the events which shape our daily lives.

Bradley said, "We hope the public will respond, and parents will encourage children to have their eyesight and hearing tested. This is the first time for Hancock County's Lions Club to bring the State Eye Van, and the free testing is available for pre-schoolers through senior citizens.

County Agent's Notes

ANTS ON THE MOVE

The warm temperatures and high soil moisture are signs that fire ants are more active. They also will be easier to control because most of them are in the upper part of their mounds.

Few places are immune to fire ants. They invade lawns, gardens, playgrounds, school yards, cemeteries, farm crops, homes and any other place where they can get into the soil.

Two insecticides are available that will do a good job of controlling fire ants. One is the granular bait Amdro. Amdro is about 90 percent effective and may be used only on pastures, range grass, lawns, turf and non-agricultural lands.

Amdro is slow acting and may take up to four months to wipe out a large mound. You may need to re-treat after four months. Usually, the queen and some of the worker ants are killed in two to four weeks.

To apply Amdro, distribute the recommended rate three to four feet around the base of an undisturbed mound. You can apply the material broadcast over a larger area or as a mound treatment.

The other material is Diazinon. It can be used around the home and in gardens. Diazinon can be used as a surface spray, as a granular bait, or as a mound drench. Don't disturb the mound when applying.

Drenching or wetting the mounds sometimes works better in killing adult and immature ants. Wet the mound thoroughly and repeat the application if you see ant activity one to two weeks after the treatment.

Always read the label before applying any insecticide. For more information, contact the County Extension office.

GREEN MAY BE WEEDS

Pastures are showing green everywhere, but don't let all the green fool you. A lot of it is winter annual weeds, many of which are seedling and will be gone soon.

Close clipping to take out the weeds will help let light in for grasses such as bermudagrass to grow. For tough broadleaf weeds, a herbicide may be needed.

Five arrested in Shoreline drug bust on Tuesday night

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Law enforcement agencies seized approximately 125 pounds of marijuana in a Tuesday night raid on a Shoreline Park residence, according to Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson.

Peterson said, "James A. Bowers, 25, Rt. 3, Box 503, (Shoreline Park); Terry L. Kolczynski, 33, and his wife Deborah Kolczynski, 30, both of Rt. 1, Box 186, (Pacific Street, Shoreline Park), all of Bay St. Louis; Leonard L. Smith, 33, 935 Northwest St.; and James S. Shuman, 25, 2201 Kentucky St., both of Topeka, Kansas are charged with possession of marijuana with intent to sell and deliver."

Bowers has an additional charge of parole violation from the state of Indiana, police say.

A search warrant was secured from Justice Court Judge Bruce Neacise for the "Pacific Street residence" in Shoreline Park, Peterson stated.

"The marijuana was in three bails which is normally used for entry into this country by airplane and several one pound bags," Peterson allowed.

The sheriff stated, "In addition to the marijuana, two .357-caliber Magnum handguns, a shotgun, one 22-caliber rifle, a large amount of money, a parachute, numerous drug paraphernalia, and a substance thought to be cocaine were seized."

The marijuana and substance were transferred to the Mississippi Gulf Coast Crime Lab Wednesday for analysis.

All five of the subjects are lodged in the Hancock County jail with bond set at $50,000 each on the Kolczynskis and no bond on the other three, Peterson said.

An investigation is continuing in the case and possibly other charges may be forthcoming, Peterson stated.

Peterson said Hancock Investigator Alvin Ladner is in charge of the case.

Among the officers involved in the raid were Peterson and Ladner; Mississippi Highway Patrol Investigators Joe Price, T.P. Naylor, and David Brooks; Hancock Deputy David Murtagh, and a member of the U.S. Customs Service.

Landholders Association finds no claims

By JUNE M. HEYDT

Photographers, news media personnel, a forester and spectators showed up for a Mississippi 16th Section Landholders Association meeting Monday night, but only one person who lives on 16th section land, Junior Fore, appeared and he was from Pearl River County.

The association, which represents persons claiming to own 16th section land and who are willing to fight to prove their deeds are bona fide, have been setting up meetings throughout Mississippi looking for persons who claim to own this school board controlled property to join their organization.

Terrel Randolph, Hancock County School Superintendent said, "The people in Hancock County who have leases on 16th section land realize that they are leases not deeds and that the state actually owns the property."

Billy H. Taylor, president of the association and candidate for the governorship of Mississippi held an informal discussion to inform the people at the meeting just what the organization is all about.

Taylor said, "All we want is our day in court. There has been a great injustice done to the people who are on 16th section property and whose fathers and grandfathers worked this land."

"There are 700,000 acres of this land in Mississippi of which 50,000 acres have been sold. Our organization represents the people who own the 50,000 acres that was sold. The organization already has members representing 14,000 acres."

"In 1978 when the legislature turned control of this land over to the school boards they forgot about us," Taylor said. "Our elected officials inherited these problems they didn't make them. The legislature, once we contacted them, were very sympathetic to our cause," Taylor added.

"I don't care if an Arab comes over here tomorrow and buys 16th section land, if he owns it we will represent him," Taylor confirmed.

Thomas Brodnax, Jackson County Supervisor and staunch opponent to this organization, said, "The thing that bothers me is this, the property belongs to the school children and you are trying to take it away from them."

Taylor replied by saying, "We have a plan that will bring the schools much more of an income than they are getting now. Only 1.88 percent of school money is derived from 16th section land."

"What we're suggesting is that the state recognize our entitlement of 50,000 acres and then to go ahead and sell the other 650,000. If this property is sold for $1,000 an acre it would come to $650 million."

"The money could draw interest of 3 to 5 percent. The state could then take the interest off the top and apply it to the principal; then set up a trust fund for the schools and disperse it equally to each county. The schools would be getting one million dollars per year per county just on the interest alone. The state and counties would be better off."

Brodnax said the land if managed right could draw a lot of money. "Right now I'm building a road on 16th section land. The response and interest is enormous. Fast food places have already contacted me about it. Apartment house developers are interested in the land."

Randolph added, "They're not making any more land and each day it becomes more and more valuable."

Brodnax addressed Taylor saying, "I respect you because you believe in what you're fighting for. Your movement might just help our concern in managing and building up 16th section land."

"I'd endorse that, as long as you're not managing this man's 16 acres," Taylor said referring to Junior Fore's land.

Randolph added, "One of the biggest problems with 16th section land has been poor management. We are hoping to change that."

Membership in the Mississippi 16th Section Landowners Association is $1 per acre of land with a minimum of $100 fee for all members.

The fee is to be spent for expenses incurred by the association in the recruitment of legal services.

Taylor, who called his charter and membership agreement "my masterpiece," said, "We won't pay the attorneys one cent. We are offering them 25 percent of the mineral rights on our land. They'll have plenty of money."

"Our members hold land deeds, warranted deeds, deeds of trust, and patented deeds. There's no sales pitch I could give that would get somebody to join our association unless they knew they owned the land."

"How do you expect people who have had land in their families for over 100 years to act when it is threatened?" asked Taylor.

"When a person has built a home on another person's property it is called 'adverse possession,' said Brodnax. Rand Riedrich, former forester for Hancock County, said, "This land was sold illegally. The people who sold it were breaking the law. However, you can't indict a dead man," he said.

Randolph added, "I think Mississippi may have had more insight in not selling this land. Every state I've talked to is sorry they sold their 16th section land. They don't know what happened to their money."

"Mississippi being the last to sell is an indication that people in the legislature are just waking up and seeing the needs for the schools," Randolph said.

Taylor, who said his organization is going to have one more meeting in which all the counties will be represented, is running for governor of the state.

He said, "I am looking for a horse right now to ride to Jackson, because I'm running as a man with common horse sense. I'm going to be running against money and everybody loves a horse."

NSTL land-sea development role to be highlighted at Fishing Rodeo

"Exploring Space - Oceans and Earth" will be the theme of the 35th annual Mississippi Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo July 1-4 at Rice Pavilion in the Gulfport Small Craft Harbor.

Jack L. Dedeaux, rodeo president, said the '83 rodeo will be dedicated to NASA's internationally known National Space Technology Laboratories, a major research and development center and Mississippi's link to the space program.

The NSTL installation is located on 13,480 acres in Hancock County on the East Pearl River and includes several other federal and state agencies actively participating in prominent ocean, environmental and other scientific programs.

Far-reaching programs conducted at NSTL include sensing satellites, weather satellites and buoys at sea. "This transfer of technology to users in state and local government provide more effective management of Earth's natural resources," concluded Herring.

Since NASA located in Mississippi 20 years ago, the space agency's missions have been directed toward research and development studies in the realm of space, oceans and earth to better the quality of life for all people on this planet.

"Many of the earth resources programs conducted at NSTL provide direct benefits to people who ply the sea for enjoyment as well as for commercial purposes," said Dedeaux.

Mack Herring, NASA public affairs officer, said NSTL employs approximately 3,500 people, with 45 percent of that number residing in the Mississippi Gulf Coast community.

Legion ball clubs join new league

Waveland Post No. 77 and Gulfport Post No. 119 are the only two Gulf Coast teams remaining in the American Legion summer baseball program.

The Waveland club is coached by Tim Favre, and the Gulfport team is headed by Irving Favre, both coaches at Hancock North Central High School.

Last season, Biloxi, Ocean Springs and Wiggins also participated in the Legion league. Ocean Springs this year will be among Gulf Coast teams participating in the inaugural Connie Mack baseball association, according to coach Steven Tomaszewski.

For the past two seasons Ocean Springs has fielded a team in the American Legion program but as Tomaszewski noted, the former Blue Sox team "went with the flow."

Biloxi will not be fielding an American Legion team, according to Joe Ben Hawkins of Post 1000. Hawkins noted that the Biloxi post does intend to get involved with Legion baseball again in 1984.

Should Biloxi not field a Connie Mack club, that would mean the city did not have a baseball competition for boys in the Legion age group.

Tomaszewski pointed out that currently he has 10 games scheduled but that loop schedule will increase should Biloxi and Bay St. Louis decide to field Connie Mack teams.

Wiggins will also be a member of the Connie Mack Association on the Gulf Coast. Ocean Springs will open their schedule on June 1 with Wiggins.

All the teams in the Gulf Coast Connie Mack Association will go to the state tournament July 25-30, set in Biloxi, according to Tomaszewski.

The winner of the state tournament will then head for the regionals.

Also an All-Star team of Gulf Coast Connie Mack players will play in the Mississippi State Semi-Pro Tournament.

"We will play a pretty competitive schedule," Tomaszewski said. "We should have a good mixture of teams."

The Ocean Springs High School baseball mentor noted that his list of opponents includes the Slidell American Legion team as well as teams from the Jackson area and Baton Rouge, La.

Tomaszewski is also looking into the possibility of playing some Connie Mack clubs from Mobile, Ala.

Grant proposal workshop scheduled at Perkinston

Dr. Cora Norman, executive director of the Mississippi Committee for the Humanities, announces a proposal writing workshop will be conducted from 10 a.m. to noon Wednesday, June 1, in the Board Conference Room, Second Floor of Darby Hall, Mississippi Gulf Coast Junior College at Perkinston.

Representatives of any organization interested in humanities projects for the public are invited to participate.

Mississippi Committee for the Humanities members from the area are William S. Haynie and Hazel Portwood, both of Gulfport, and John D.W. Guice of Hattiesburg.

Mississippi Committee for the Humanities funds non-profit agencies and civic or educational organizations to hold public forums, seminars, or conferences which will provide a better understanding of current conditions of national life.

Programs are built around content from the Humanities—local history, interpretation of art, literature and languages, etc. Interpretive exhibits, radio and television, or other media projects may also be funded.

A recent example is "The Relationship of Basic Values to American Freedom," a series of public forums sponsored by the Holmes County School District.

A current example is "The Cultural Tapestry of the Mississippi Coast," a scholar-in-residence program with the City of Biloxi.

Other topics that have received Mississippi Committee for the Humanities funds, include "Crime and Violence in the Development of the American Dream," "The Influence of Television on the Child, Family and Society," and "The Mutual Concerns of Business and the Humanities."

Mississippi Committee for the Humanities made up of 22 citizens from the state, is funded, primarily by the National Endowment for the Humanities and from private donations.

The committee, headed by Charles Sewell of Jackson, grants its funds to groups throughout the state on the basis of competitive proposals.

The next deadline for requests of over $1,000 is July 1, 1983.

For more information contact Norman at Room 111, 3825 Ridgewood Road, Jackson, MS 39211, 601-982-6752.

Eight pros to participate in Ole Miss Football Camp

Ole Miss head football coach Billy Brewer, his coaching staff, and eight top-flight professional football players are rolling out the red and blue carpet at The University of Mississippi June 5-9 for young athletes completing the sixth through 11 grades during the 1982-83 school year.

According to Coach Brewer, the "very latest" in football techniques will be emphasized for quarterbacks, receivers, running backs, offensive linemen, defensive linemen, defensive secondary, place kickers and punters at the 1983 Ole Miss Football Camp.

"We will be stressing the role of discipline for today's athlete," Coach Brewer said. "We plan to teach techniques to improve quickness, speed, agility, strength and other elements of basic football skills."

Professional football players who will assist with the Ole Miss camp are Larry Anderson and Wade Griffin of the Baltimore Colts, Bob Rush of the San Diego Chargers, Archie Manning of the Houston Oilers, Jim Miller of San Francisco 49ers, Johnny Robinson of the Los Angeles Raiders, Ken Toler of the New England Patriots, and Ben Williams of the Buffalo Bills.

Enrollment in the camp is limited to 300 players, with applications accepted on a first-come, first-served basis. Deadline for applications is Monday, May 30. After this date special permission to attend must be obtained from coach Mickey Merritt, Camp Director, by calling 601-232-7241.

The fee for resident campers will be $150, and for day campers, $100. Participants will have the use of Ole Miss athletic dressing rooms, training rooms and football fields, plus weight rooms, tennis courts, swimming pool, and Ole Miss Union facilities.

Participants will report to Twin Towers Dormitory on Sunday, June 5 between 1 and 5 p.m. for registration and room assignment. Final day of camp will be Thursday, June 9.

Further information may be obtained by calling Coach Merritt, or by contacting The University of Mississippi, Division of Continuing Education, University, MS 38677, telephone 601-232-7282.

Clifton signs with Mets

Charles Clifton, the hard-hitting right fielder on Pearl River College's baseball team, is on his way to Florida with a nice little bonus in his pocket after signing a contract with the New York Mets' baseball organization earlier this week.

The Mets, one of several major league baseball teams who showed an interest in signing Clifton, reached a deal with the left-hand hitting outfielder on Wednesday and shipped him off to St. Petersburg, Fla., where he'll play for the next two weeks before being re-evaluated and possibly moved up to the Mets' class A farm team.

Clifton, a 407 hitter and the No. 3 man in PRC's power-packed line-up, had to make a choice between signing a professional contract now or continuing his college education in the hope of being signed later.

What he ended up with was a little bit of both worlds. The Mets, who sent a representative to Poplarville in the hope of signing Clifton, have agreed to pay for the rest of Clifton's education.

Along with an undisclosed bonus for signing, the Mets agreed to pay for Clifton's education should the Wildcat outfielder decide to continue his schooling at a later date.

The whole education issue came about when Clifton's father flew down from Shelbyville, Ky. in an attempt to talk his son into finishing his schooling before playing professional ball.

But with that issue straightened out, Clifton packed his bags and headed for St. Petersburg. After two weeks in St. Petersburg, there's a possibility that Clifton will be reassigned to the Mets' class A team in Columbia, South Carolina or the team's class A team in the New York-Penn League.

Before leaving for St. Petersburg, Clifton talked with Ned Eades, Pearl River's second-year baseball coach, and told his former skipper that, "This was the goal I've been shooting for all my life."

Eades said that Clifton intends to finish his college education on a gradual basis. "This is what I've been waiting for," Eades quoted Clifton as saying. "School is taken care of and I'm ready to go."

And if anyone has a chance to go far in the Mets' organization, Eades—a former product of the Cincinnati Reds' baseball organization—feels Charles Clifton is the man who can do it.

"He's got a lot of things going for him," he said. "He's a left-handed hitter, he has good speed, an excellent arm and he takes good care of himself. He's a very coachable player and I'm sure he'll work hard every step of the way."

During the 1983 season with the Wildcats, Clifton led the team in six statistical categories.

In addition to having the most plate appearances (130), Clifton led the team with 53 hits, 46 runs, scored, 14 doubles, 23 stolen bases and three triples.

Having appeared in 41 of PRC's 44 games, he also placed fourth on the team with a .407 batting average, ranked fifth with 31 runs batted in, second with 29 singles, tied for fourth with six home runs and finished second on the team with 100 total bases.

USM Football Camp faculty to include Raiders' Ray Guy

A lecture and a punting demonstration by former University of Southern Mississippi All-American and current Los Angeles Raiders star Ray Guy will be one of the many highlights when coach Jim Carmody holds his annual football camp here June 5-10.

Guy holds several USM kicking records including the school's longest punt (93 yards) and longest field goal (61 yards). He has been named to the All-Pro team and has played in the Pro Bowl numerous times.

The Eagle coaching staff will offer young men expert instruction in all phases of football: Running, passing, punting, receiving, place-kicking, blocking, tackling (form-only, no contact) strength building, agility and quickness.

The camp will be divided into three divisions according to age, size, and ability, with groupings within each division according to positions.

The Eagle staff will adjust instruction to the specific abilities of the athletes, teaching basic fundamentals and essential skills with emphasis on individual conditioning and development. The athletes will study theory, rules, play situations, play patterns, game films, leadership and sportsmanship.

The cost of the camp is $135, and this covers instruction, room, meals, insurance, a USM camp tee-shirt, a football handbook, and a graduation certificate. A day camper's fee of $90 will cover costs of all of the Camp's benefits except housing and the morning and evening meals.

Assisting coach Carmody will be camp coordinator Thomas Coleman, USM's defensive coordinator and Eagle assistant coaches Keith Daniels, Dyer Carlisle, Jerry Freeman, Ron Cheatham, Ronnie Gray and Rick Trickett.

Applications or additional information may be obtained by writing USM's Department of Conferences and Workshops, Southern Station Box 5136 Hattiesburg, MS 39406-5136 or the USM Football Office, Southern Station Box 5152, Hattiesburg, MS 39406-5152.

The USM football camp is sanctioned by the Mississippi High School Activities Association, Mississippi Private School Activities Association and the Activity Associations of other states.

Enjoy Strawberries

Fresh strawberries can be served now or frozen for wintertime enjoyment.

Fresh strawberries are an excellent source of vitamin C and are low in calories. One cup of strawberries provides almost 150 percent of the recommended daily allowance for vitamin C, and only 55 calories.

Strawberries freeze well with or without sugar or sugar syrup. However, texture, color and flavor are usually better when sugar or syrup is used. If you want to make preserves of jam at a later date, or if you're limiting your sugar intake, freezing the berries without sugar is best.

Choose firm, ripe strawberries with a solid red color and bright green caps. If the container has red stains, the berries may be overripe or have been crushed.

To prepare the berries, wash them gently and quickly in a bowl of cold water. Lift the berries from the water, letting the sand and dirt stay in the bowl. Repeat two or three times until water is clean, then drain well. Remove caps after the berries are clean and dry.

To freeze with sugar, add three-fourth of a cup of sugar to one quart (1-1/3 pounds) berries and mix thoroughly. Turn the berries gently with a large spoon until all are coated with sugar and juice.

Pack the berries in moisture-vapor-proof containers. Fill the containers leaving headspace at top (one-half inch for pints and one inch for quarts). Place a small piece of crumpled freezer paper or waxed paper on top to hold the berries under the juice. Be sure the seal is airtight. Freeze as quickly as possible at 0 degrees F.

To freeze whole berries without sugar, pack into containers, leaving one-half inch headspace. To help preserve the bright red color, cover the strawberries with water containing one teaspoon crystalline ascorbic acid for each quart of water. Seal and freeze.

For more information about freezing strawberries or other fruits, contact this office and ask for a free copy of publication 663, Freezing Fruits.

Waveland Players to dally in Southern decadence again Friday and Saturday

Most playgoers find it easy to pick out an actor or actress and say, "they're the stars of the show." But in the Waveland Players' current production of "Murder in the Magnolias," you are hard-put to decide. The cast is that good and the lines they deliver that funny.

The extraordinary set, designed and built by Art Director Ed Scanlan Jr., depicting a Southern mansion whose best days are long gone, deserves special mention. This is a very gifted man, indeed.

Director John Helmers has done a fine job with his superb cast, as has Producer Ed Ling with everything else involved in putting a show together.

In order of appearance: Ling, as Colonel Rance Chickenwing, appears only in the Prologue; but his definition of the role is so memorable that you can't forget him as the play unfolds.

Dottie Overall, as his befuddled sister, stands out amidst this powerful cast. She is Amanda Chickenwing, and is on stage almost non-stop.

Edith Bierhorst Back adds to her comedic hit roles the part of the slovenly housekeeper, Jezebel. She's a riot, and a laugh a minute.

Another audience favorite is the mumbling, grinning, hideous Voodoo Woman, played to the hilt by Barbara Fitch.

She's in and out with her mumbo-jumbo Creole curses.

Pete Bogg, a state engineer who wants to dig up Amanda Chickenwing's plantation, is well-played by newcomer Lorraine Eden.

Terry Simpson plays the Truman Capote-like Thornbird Chickenwing III, and has surprises up his sleeve you won't believe!

Bubba Kamrowski is a howl hoot, and holler! Played by Walter Vaughn, it's hard to top him.

Lorraine Caruthers, played by Jeannie Zeigler, is the only sane member in this cast of loonies, and handles it well.

Ted Stechmann is unforgettable as an old mess of an old Lawyer Possum. In this spoof of Tennessee Williams, Gone With the Wind, and even a little Shakespeare thrown in for good measure, his performance is a knockout.

Princess Lotta Kargo, a well-named has-been of an actress, is emoted by Margo Frommeyer who received bravos after her "Aside" to the audience last Friday night.

Scanlan as Sheriff Billy Jerk, "the biggest man in Tudball County," has such a good time in this role; it's a meaty one for sure. From the moment he enters the stage he takes command of the action and never lets go.

His confrontation with Walter Vaughn's Bubba is top-notch, as is his entire performance.

And last, but by no means least, is Pam Baumgartner as the flowery-speeched Blanche Du Blank, a slightly cracked Southern Belle.

Of all the weirdos in "Murder in the Magnolias," the other characters think she's the whackiest (not so!).

There was so much laughter at last Friday's performance, that a few lines were lost.

"Murder in the Magnolias" is a funny play, and good for what ails you.

The well-coordinated crew reads as follows: Art Director, Scanlan; Concessions, Bubba Dietrich; Lights, Joe Minas and Derek Stechmann; Makeup, Scanlan; Lori Gar-side, and Nan Bradley; Playbill, Ling and Scanlan; Portrait of Colonel Chickenwing, Jeannie Zeigler; Posters, Ling and Scanlan; Publicity, Back and Meta Gar-side; Tickets, Gar-side; Set Design and Decoration, Scanlan, Jeannie Zeigler, and Jim Gar-side; Sound, Dick Fitch; Spotlight, Daren Stechmann; Stage Manager, Props, and Prompter, Joyce Manzoni.

Final performances are Friday and Saturday night at 8 p.m.

Plan to arrive before curtain time, so that you don't miss the Prologue, and therefore, the meaning of the unfolding action.

Tickets are $3 at the door at the Waveland Civic Center on Coleman Avenue.

Home File

Items that are used frequently should be kept in a home file. This may be a home business center, file cabinet, expandable file folder, desk drawer or sturdy box. A fireproof container is best, but somewhat expensive.

This file should include insurance policies, guarantees and warranties, education records, bank statements, health records, budgeting information, a household inventory, replaceable records and receipts used for tax purposes, and cancelled checks.

Copies of cancelled checks can usually be obtained from your bank. Ask your bank how long they keep checks and the cost for replacement. Those used for tax purposes (or a list of their numbers and dates) can be kept in your safety deposit box or home safe.

How long you keep other cancelled checks depends on the reason for keeping them. Three years is usually sufficient, unless the check is evidence of a paid installment debt. In that case, you may want to keep it 5 or 6 years after the debt is paid.

You may need cancelled checks or other proof of purchase to get warranty service or to prove actual costs for an unusual or expensive item listed on your household inventory. These should be kept for a longer time.

Organize your home file in a way that is convenient and easy for you. One way is a system of labeled file folders or large envelopes with card-board dividers and sub-dividers according to type of information (accounts and records, banking and investment records, etc.).

Or, you can use a two-part filing system — a permanent file and a temporary file. The permanent file is for storage of past years' records, and the temporary file is for current transactions and records. If you use this system, go over your temporary files periodically, throwing away outdated and unnecessary records and transferring needed records to the permanent file. The first of the year is a good time to make the transfers.

Your wallet is actually a mini-filing system. Here you should keep identification information, driver's license, employee ID card, person to contact in an emergency, social security card, and possibly organization membership cards.

Health, accident, and auto insurance information, as well as any donor cards or information on allergies, health problems and blood type, should also be carried.

If you carry credit cards, keep a list of the account numbers, company addresses and telephone numbers at home.

Because a complete, well-organized system involves storing records in several locations, a list or directory of where various records are kept is important.

Valachi seeks supervisor position in District One

Dominic C. Valachi, 41, of Route 2, Box 545, Bay St. Louis has announced his candidacy for the office of supervisor for District One.

Valachi and his wife Ann have four children—Carrie, 10; Joseph, 8; Anthony, 27 months; and Regina, 8 months.

Valachi is a self-employed carpenter and a graduate of George Washington High School in Bronx, New York.

He was in the United States Marine Corp. from 1959-62.

A native of New York, Valachi has lived in Hancock County for three years.

Valachi says, "As a candidate for the Board of Supervisors in District One I have seen a lot of things which I don't care for and if elected I will devote all my time to see that things are changed."

"I feel that a supervisor's job is a full time one. If elected, I will be a working supervisor and devote 100 percent of my time to the district's needs."

"I have two great concerns for our district. One is my concern about the low-lying areas and how it creates a danger to our homes, property and valuables not to mention the inconvenience it causes."

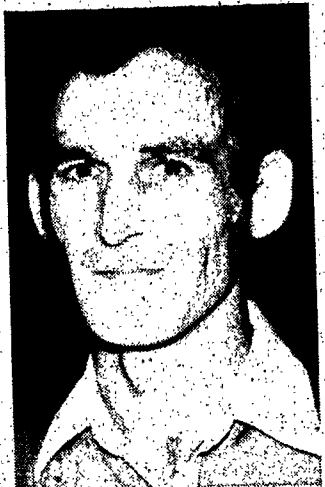

"During the flood of Jan. 20 I saw a lot of our district's area under water. Clermont Harbor, Bayou Cadet, Ansley, LaFrances, Shoreline Park and Bay Side Park."

"I feel if we spent more time trying to improve these areas than grading roads not in danger of flooding, we could solve a lot of these hardships."

"My first interest would be to try and set up a better communications system between the Board of Supervisors, Civil Defense, Hancock County Sheriff's department and the volunteer fire departments in our district."

"I toured the area after the flooding with the Red Cross and was quite upset with what I saw and I will try my best to improve the situation."

"My second concern is the

loss of many of our homes by fire. The board of supervisors and the county helps these volunteer fire departments and the supervisors should check the departments to see that equipment is up to date and capable. Many homes have been lost because of the response time, broken down equipment and the lack of manpower.

Retired Federal Employees elect state officers

The Mississippi Federation of Chapters of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees (NARFE) held its 18th annual convention in Vicksburg on May 8-10.

State Officers elected for 1983 are Charles G. Clifford, Pelahatchie, president; George B. Crain, Starkville, first vice president; James C. Byrd, Gulfport, second vice president; Mrs. Helen Clifford, Pelahatchie, secretary; Fred B. Gilliland, Columbus, treasurer; H. Lynn Cavin, Pinola, chaplain; A.C. Gossard, Meridian, sergeant-at-arms.

ETV Brief

"The Woodwright's Shop," a 13-week series exploring the practical and recreational aspects of 19th century woodcrafting, will be rebroadcast at 4 p.m., Saturdays, beginning May 28, on the Mississippi ETV Network. It was first seen on ETV last year.

The programs make available to viewers the tools and techniques of the country craftsman, the traditions of self-reliant technology in America and an understanding of their Old World origins.

District representatives elected are Russell E. Smith, Coldwater; Trenton H. Waldrup, Kosciusko; Bob H. Mayo, Forest; George C. Brown, Brookhaven; John E. Montgomery, Gulfport.

Keynote speaker was Helen T. Peddrick, national secretary.

In her address Peddrick stressed the need for recruiting new members.

"Only by increasing our ranks will NARFE be able to develop the kind of formidable force that will be effective in making our lawmakers understand that the commitments pledged to us in the past will continue to be honored," said Mrs. Peddrick.

Field vice president Herbert H. Anderson reported on NARFE in Region III.

Among the issues he discussed was the adverse publicity that Federal annuitants have been subjected to in the media. "Members must work together to build back our image of dedicated, hard working former employees. This can be done by contacting or writing to not only the press and television, but also our state senators and representatives in Congress," Anderson said.

Stanley Williams takes SSC's President Award

Brother William Leimbach,

SC, was the director of graduation.

Following the conferring of the diplomas upon the 87 members of the graduating class and the members of the Golden Jubilee Class of 1933, Brother Thornton presented awards to the following graduates:

Jack Kent, Excellence in Humanities; Tim Rayner, Excellence in Mathematics; Jack Kent, Excellence in Social Science; Michael Collins, Excellence in Science; and John Gleber, Chamber of Commerce Award.

Also, Kent Weidle, American Legion Award; Michael Collins, Character Cup for A Day Student; Michael Delgado, Conduct Award for A Resident Student; John Killeen, Character Award for A Resident Student; and John Tighe, Character Cup for A Resident Student.

State Bar eyes pre-college education

Lowering the rate of juvenile delinquency, which represents more than 50 percent of after-school time, has prompted the Mississippi State Bar, cited alienation from the law as one reason for delinquent behavior.

Surveys show that few young people have exposure to the legal system outside of their history class. "Many students view law with a sense of fear, as something to be used against them. Students think it's beyond their understanding and control," said Coker.

Coker, calling BEST "significant contribution of Mississippi lawyers to their state," said the program will show students that there is a reason for laws, but that laws can be changed when society wants them changed.

"Law works for people, not against them," said Coker. Only 20 percent of pre-college students in this country are provided law education, much of which centers on the virtue of the country and strict obedience to the law, said Ty Warren, project director for the State Bar.

"The result of this force feeding of the law is another generation of young people who are apathetic, even hostile to our democratic system."

The bar's initial program begins July 26.

State tuition hike proposed

A proposal to hike tuition at Mississippi's eight public universities for fall sessions is under consideration, the Associated Press reports from Jackson.

Dr. E. E. Thrash, executive secretary of the College Board, said the proposal calls for undergraduate tuition hikes of about 10 percent, roughly $100, at the University of Mississippi, Mississippi State University and the University of Southern Mississippi for state residents.

Four others plan smaller increases.

Thrash said the College Board Finance Committee has authorized the hikes and the full board is expected to approve them at a meeting in Jackson on May 19.

The College Board approved last month a $72 annual increase for Jackson State, where enrollment dropped last fall forcing faculty and staff salaries were cut during the current school year.

With the increase, Jackson state's annual tuition goes from $900 to $972 this fall.

Currently, state residents at the three largest universities are paying an average of about $1,000 in annual tuition fees. The $100 hike would raise tuition for in-state students at Mississippi state to $1,232; at Ole Miss to $1,187; and at Southern to $1,040.

Non-resident tuition at Ole Miss, Mississippi State and Southern would be increased $150.

The proposed $50 tuition increase at Alcorn State would raise annual tuition to $375. A $50 hike at Mississippi Valley State would raise annual tuition to $900. The increase at Delta State would be $30, raising annual tuition to $800.

The hike beginning this fall at Mississippi University for Women would raise annual tuition from $800 to $825 for full-time students attending the fall and spring semesters.

Thrash said non-resident fees for undergraduates at the state universities will increase by $25 per semester.

University official sees light at end of job-hunting tunnel

There is a light at the end of the job prospect tunnel for graduating students at the University of Southern Mississippi.

USM Placement Director Carl Lawrence said that he has seen the economic situation strengthen in the past month.

"Companies have interviewed more students this past year than last year or the year before," Lawrence said.

According to Lawrence, business and industrial recruiters have cautiously approached hiring graduates because of the uncertain economy.

"We have had 23 job offers in the past two weeks," Lawrence said. "And I believe that the economy is getting stronger and will be back to normal by the fall or early spring."

Science and Technology, Business Administration and Nursing graduates at USM still have the best chance of immediate jobs, but Lawrence said that there are jobs for students majoring in other disciplines.

Lawrence said that prospective employers look at a student's appearance, communication skills, grades, extracurricular activities, leadership qualities and prior work experience.

"If a student works his way through school, that helps in getting a job," he said. "If a student works while in school and he doesn't really have to, that really helps."

Over the last year, the USM Placement Bureau has had 75 companies interview 1,896 students and 19 school systems interviewed for 151 teaching positions.

Lawrence urges juniors and seniors to file application information with his office at the beginning of their graduation year. Employers, he said, are constantly looking for qualified students and the students included in his files will have a better chance for employment.

A new developmental reading course will be offered beginning the summer semester at the University of Southern Mississippi. The course will be three-semester hours and is designed for two populations of students.

The first population is comprised of beginning freshmen students who scored below 12 on the American College Test (ACT). Students in this category are required to take the new course.

The second population is comprised of students, regardless of classification, desiring assistance in the development of reading skills.

"The goal of this course is to raise the levels of reading skills so that students can function independently in their academic classes," Dr. Hugh Frue, assistant vice-president for academic affairs, said.

According to Reading Center personnel the program of study will be determined following reading evaluation of students registering for the class. Some 10 to 15 students are expected in the first class.

Developmental Reading will meet in the Speech and Hearing Building, Room 142.

The new course is one of three developmental programs designed to increase skills of students. The other developmental programs are in mathematics and English.

Additional information about Developmental Reading may be obtained by calling the Reading Center at 266-5247.

Bonney named Star Student

TRACI BONNEY

The Mississippi Economic Council has announced that Traci L. Bonney has been selected as the Star Student at Pass Christian High School.

Star Students are selected on the basis of academic excellence. American College Test scores and scholastic averages are considered in designation of the school's Star Student.

The Student-Teacher Achievement Recognition (STAR) program encourages and promotes academic achievement among Mississippi's high school seniors, explained Benton Cain of Jackson, chairman of MEC's Student-Teacher Achievement Recognition Committee.

"Top scholars are being designated as Star Students in more than 325 participating schools in Mississippi. From these Star Students, area winners are selected, and the Council awards scholarships to the state's top three Star

Students and their Star Teacher."

Funds for these scholarships are provided by the Phil Hardin Foundation of Meridian.

Each Star Student is asked to designate a Star Teacher, a teacher who has made the greatest contribution to the student's scholastic achievement.

Mrs. Linda K. Jordan of Gulfport was designated Star Teacher at Pass High.

Both the Star Student and Star Teacher will receive certificates from the council, in addition to being eligible for competition for scholarship awards.

Bonney is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Bonney of Pass Christian.

Her achievements and honors at Pass Christian High School include Who's Who Among American High School Students; The Society of Distinguished American High School Students; United States Achievement Academy; National Leadership Merit Award; International Foreign Languages Award, French; National Science Merit Award, Physics; Spanish I Award; and Special Superintendent's Honor Roll, 9th through 12th grades.

Also, Two-Star Thespians; 1983 Governor's School; 1st Place Tricolor Awards at Pass Christian Garden Club Flower Show; Beta Club; Newspaper staff, co-editor; Drama Club president; French Club treasurer; Garden Club; Explorer Post 300; Science Club; Band; International Thespians Society, lifetime member; Advanced English IV Award; and French III Award.

Jordan has taught school at Pass High for 10 years. A graduate of the University of Oregon, she was also Star Teacher in 1968.

Dedeaux attends leadership seminar

Herbert Dedeaux, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dedeaux Sr. of Pass Christian, represented Pass Christian High School at the annual Hugh O'Brien Youth Leadership Seminar in Jackson.

Kelly Lockhart, state representative in 1982, attended as a counselor. She is the daughter of Mrs. Nancy Lockhart of Pass Christian.

Business sponsors of the seminar were Jefferson Standard, South Central Bell, Mississippi Publishers Corporation, McGraw Rental, and Jackson Coca-Cola Bottling Company.

Civic associations who were sponsors were Jackson Jaycees, Jackson Breakfast Optimist Club, and Prentiss

Junior Civil League. Individual sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dowdy and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ross.

The Friday session consisted of orientation by Tom Ross Jr., chairman of the seminar, followed by a reception by Lt. Governor Brad Dye, dinner, and then a session meeting.

On Saturday, students attended sessions until 3 p.m. followed by a field trip to the Clarion Legery/Jackson Daily News.

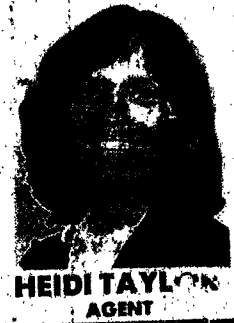

After dinner there was another session followed by entertainment.

The program concluded Sunday, May 8 at 1:30 p.m. after the banquet.

Summer session night class schedule is offered at PRC

Pearl River College will offer summer session night classes at the Poplarville campus and in Picaune and Columbia.

Enoch Seal Jr., dean of PRC's academic affairs, said the night class schedule is tentative as it is necessary to enroll a minimum of 10 students in each class before it can be taught.

The tuition is $25 per semester hour plus a $5 registration fee. The cost of books and materials is not included in this fee. Once tuition is paid, and the class begins, there will be no refund.

Classes carry three semester hours of credit and will meet 16 times, two and one-half hours each night. Final examinations will be given on the 17th night.

The organizational meeting for the Poplarville campus will be held Monday, May 30 at 6:30 p.m. in Room 108 of the Science Building.

The proposed classes include:

Poplarville—psychology, general psychology, sociology, marriage and family; English composition, English literature, photography, political science, U.S. History, World History, physical science, music for children, music appreciation.

Picaune—organizational meeting, Tuesday, May 31, Junior High annex at 6:30 p.m.; general psychology, English, English literature, foundations of education, U.S. History, World History, political science, general mathematics, college algebra, trigonometry.

Columbia—organizational meeting, Thursday, June 2, public library at 6:30 p.m.; psychology, general psychology, sociology, marriage and family, anthropology, English, literature, foundations of education, business law, U.S. History, World History, American government, general biology, physical science, college mathematics or college algebra, music for children, music appreciation.

Tuition costs remain the same for PRC's fall term

Pearl River College will not increase its tuition for the 1983-84 school year.

According to Dr. Marvin R. White, PRC's president, the Pearl River Board of Trustees, at their regular May meeting, decided not to increase the $190 per semester tuition, book, vocational-technical shop, or other miscellaneous fees.

The only price changes at Pearl River College will be for cafeteria meals. Ron Holmes, PRC's business manager, explained to the Board that Morrison's, PRC's food service contractor, advised him that food costs were up and that they'll have to charge about seven percent more during the coming year.

The seven percent hike means a noon meal ticket will increase from $120 to $140 per semester and that boarding students with a five-day meal ticket will pay $535 per semester instead of $500.

Students attending Pearl River College during the 1983-84 school year will pay only $190 for tuition and $30 for books. Bus transportation from points within Pearl River's six county supporting district is only $100 per semester.

The total for a student living on campus, in an air-conditioned dormitory, with tuition, books and a five-day meal ticket included, is only $755 per semester, with a seven-day meal ticket included, is only $755 per semester, with a seven-day meal ticket the total is $832. Dormitory students are allowed to ride a PRC commuter bus, at no charge, on Monday Mornings and Friday afternoons.

"We have had an excellent school year," said Dr. White. "We are in good financial shape. That's the main reason our board decided not to increase the tuition."

According to an Associated Press report this past week, all eight of Mississippi's public universities will probably be charging higher tuition for the academic year beginning this fall. The AP quoted Dr. E. E. Thrash, executive secretary of the College Board,

Business Week program will teach the free enterprise system

Helping high school students develop a better understanding and appreciation of America's free enterprise system—that's the goal of the upcoming Business Week program at Mississippi University for Women.

The sixth annual Business Week will be held June 5-10 at The W. Approximately 150 students from throughout the state are expected to participate this summer, said Vicky Davis, business week coordinator and instructor in the MUW Division of Business and Economics.

"Business Week is an educational, statewide business program for Mississippi high school juniors and seniors," Davis said. "This program enables young adults to study and learn about businesses, the free enterprise system and business career opportunities prior to career selection."

"Business week, she continued, includes both business and social activities for those attending the special summer event. "The Business Week program is strengthened through the assistance and involvement of our dedicated Business Week advisers from local industries."

"We have added several new activities this year and we are looking forward to a particularly outstanding program for Business Week '83," Davis said.

During their stay on the MUW campus, Business Week '83 participants will explore such topics as America's private enterprise system, government regulation of business, professional management, small business operation, Mississippi's economy, business ethics, current issues and careers in business.

All participants are sponsored by businesses, industries, chambers of commerce and civic or educational groups.

Industrial tech program at Gulf Park prospers

Gulf Park officials feel an enrollment increase of 30.4 percent and $40,000 in new laboratory equipment are indicators an industrial technology program at USM-Gulf Coast is growing and fulfilling the needs of the industrial community of the Coast.

The new equipment is expected to be located at Keesler because of convenience, but it will serve all technology programs on the Coast, including industrial, electronic and computer science.

John Myers, coordinator of the industrial technology program on the Long Beach campus, said that of the student enrollment 95 percent are seeking degrees and others are taking classes related to their work for a number of reasons.

"The heavy industrial concentration on the Coast is the main reason the industrial technology program was brought to this area, and we are seeing more and more industries and industrial personnel involved in the program," Myers said.

"The technologist," Myers said, "is the mid-management person who can communicate and be highly productive both with the engineers and production personnel, while the engineers are largely concerned with concept and design. The technologist understands this and can relate to production and use and deal with production personnel more effectively."

The majority of USM's industrial technology classes on the Coast are held at USM-Jackson County or USM-Keesler, due to the majority of students coming from these areas.

Individuals interested in this program, or industries that would like a presentation should call Myers at 864-6533.

MUSCLE STRAIN

"Oh, I strained my back" is a common complaint and loses much work time for industry and lost wages for the injured party. Muscle strain or sprain is often accompanied by a subluxation of the vertebrae. Simply because any force strong enough to strain or sprain ligament or muscle is also strong enough to stretch and pull upon the place of attachment which is a spinal vertebra. Conditions of this nature are best cared for by a prompt appointment with a competent doctor of Chiropractic. His six years of specialized study of the back bones, muscles and nerves will assure you of a competent diagnosis and the best care. Being cared for in this manner leaves nothing to chance and may arrest underlying problems that would present serious threats to your body's health in the future.

ETV Brief

GREAT CHEFS

ETV viewers are treated to dinner at Arnaud's, situated in New Orleans' French Quarter, on "Great Chefs of New Orleans" at 8 p.m., Saturday, May 25, on the Mississippi ETV Network.

Saussure Escargots leads Chef Claude Aubert's menu. He insists on importing the escargots (snails) from France because he believes they are the most flavorful and tender. He uses artichokes as cups to serve the escargots with their sauce of shallots, carrots, garlic, bay leaves, thyme, parsley, fennel, demi-glace and red wine.

His Bourride a la Toulousaine includes pompano, speckled trout, catfish and red snapper with a French touch—mussels—and a Louisiana addition—live crawfish. The fennel, tomatoes and garlic suggest the Mediterranean origins of the dish.

For the salad course, Aubert prepares Salade de Laitue aux Noix. He uses alfalfa sprouts, apple slices and walnuts to make the salad a little more substantial than the French usually prefer. His dressing includes crushed anchovy filets.

His dessert is Tarte aux Pommes a la Solognote. He uses puff pastry, showing how to fold the pastry with butter inside, constantly alternating rolling the pastry, folding it and letting it rest on cold marble.

BUDGETS &amp; TAXES

A panel moderated by Louis Rikeuser debates the balanced budget/tax limitation amendment that is before the Congress on a special program at 10 p.m., Wednesday, June 1, on the Mississippi ETV Network.

"The Three-Letter Word: Tax" features Sen. Max Baucus (D-Mont.); Sen. Orr Hatch (R-Utah); Cong. Barber Conable Jr. (R-NY); Cong. James Jones (D-Okla.); Cong. Barbara Mikulski (D-Md.); Alice Rivkin, director, Congressional Budget Office; Milton Friedman, Nobel Laureate economist; Hoover Institution; Joseph A. Pechman, director of economics study, Brookings Institution; Rudolph G. Penner, Director of tax policy studies, American Enterprise Institute; William Davidson, National Taxpayers Union; William H. ## International conference eyes NOAA's weather system

NEW ORLEANS—If a workable system of data buoys had been in place in the Gulf of Mexico and functioning in 1957 when Hurricane Audrey hit Cameron, La., many of the 500 lives that were lost could have been saved.

Saving lives and protecting property are the main objectives of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration's (NOAA) project which place data gathering buoys at strategic locations to monitor both oceanographic and atmospheric conditions.

This system of buoys has both domestic and foreign implications as the United States and other nations cooperate to achieve a greater understanding of weather conditions and characteristics of the oceans.

A recent seminar here, dealing with the technology for the data buoys, sponsored by the Marine Technology Society-Gulf Coast Section, and NOAA Data Buoy Center, brought together representatives from throughout the United States and a number of foreign countries. The seminar was co-another six. South Africa currently spends some $100,000 per year in their buoy program.

LeRoux said that before coming to the seminar he was generally unaware of what other countries were doing, and the same was voiced by Richard Pettifor, representing the Meteorological Office, Bracknell, United Kingdom.

Pettifor said the United Kingdom was in a similar program, however, on a much smaller scale, due in part to the tremendous start-up cost. "We have such a vast ocean area with which to deal, currently data is extremely sparse and weather data coming from ships is slow and generally unreliable. In the North Sea alone, we have an enormous need for accurate data to be gathered quickly," Pettifor said.

Both Pettifor and LeRoux pointed to the opportunities for international cooperation that would be generated from the seminar would be extremely beneficial to them. The United States is currently spaced or do not exist at all. These buoys can be deployed from aircraft by parachute into inaccessible areas. Of particular note is the ice buoy, developed for scientific studies of the interaction of sea ice with the environment.

Bringing the weather monitoring situation closer to home, in fact as close as the 5 p.m. weather news was Dave Barnes, meteorologist for the national Weather Service in Slidell, La. His area of responsibility is the northern Gulf of Mexico and a considerable land area.

Barnes cited the over 40 million people living in the Gulf and eastern seaboard regions and the industrial intensive nature of the area involving oil platforms, drilling rigs, over 1,000 helicopters and crew boats operate in the area in addition to the shipping industry and commercial shipping.

"We have got to have a stable program for monitoring weather conditions and the buoy system is the most efficient and cost effective available," Barnes said. "The 1957 hurricane, Audrey, that killed 500 people in Cameron, La., swept in with no accurate weather data, it came in a day early, and forecasters were extremely handicapped with accurate data," Barnes said.

currently conducting extensive research into the engineering technology of automatic data buoy acquisition, transmission and receiving systems to increase the reliability of the program.

minated by the University of Southern Mississippi, Division of Conferences and Workshops.

Although primarily technical in nature, the seminar did reveal that the prime targets for the technology are weather and climate.

According to James Winchester, Associate Administrator of NOAA in Washington, D.C., the buoy system of monitoring weather is extremely cost effective. "We are now replacing many manned observation stations with data buoys that can give us more accurate information quicker, and the cost effectiveness of this system over manned stations is highly significant," Winchester said.

South African representative Piet LeRoux, of the South African Weather Service, indicated his country was just now deploying data buoys and currently have eight buoys on location and are preparing to purchase recently involved in international buoy activity, according to Dr. Jerry McCall, director of the NOAA Data Buoy Center in Bay St. Louis, MS. "Data buoys currently cover all waters around the U.S. and Great Lakes and recently six data buoys have been sold to Saudi Arabia for use in their petroleum industry."

Two years ago the U.S. furnished drifting buoys for an international climate experiment in the Southern Hemisphere involving over 100 countries and we expect to see a continuation of this type international cooperation on the part of the United States," McCall said.

Data buoys that circle the United States are in two categories, moored and drifting. Data from moored buoys is collected via stationary satellites, one covering the eastern part of the U.S. the other the west.

Observations from these buoys are transmitted to the
